

IT Governance

Does your IT organization continue to find renegade or unknown systems running in remote locations due to lack of visibility?

Do you see high costs in your IT organization due to infrastructure and application redundancies? Is there a gap between IT execution and business expectations due to lack of central standards and processes?

Many organizations will face at least one of these problems due to lack of IT Governance. Invigorate Consulting can help introduce and expedite your organization on a path to IT Governance to gain control of your IT assets and better align them to business priorities.
